"We met in London in 2014 and eloped 10 months later. Despite getting officially married without friends and family, we always knew we would have a traditional wedding to celebrate in the future. Just over two years later in 2017, we decided to celebrate in New Mexico on a gorgeous October day and invited guests to travel to see the International Balloon Fiesta in Albuquerque earlier in the week. Blessed with truly wonderful weather all week, nearly 50 Londoners and guests from around the country joined us at the Balloon Fiesta. In Santa Fe for the wedding, guests were treated to a mariachi parade around the historic city Plaza. On La Terraza patio, at La Fonda on the Plaza, guests experienced a classic New Mexico watercolor sunset during cocktail hour while drinking margaritas and gin and tonics - a nod to both of our home cities. A bright red British Royal Mail postbox, straight from the UK, served as the card basket. Dinner featured traditional New Mexican cuisine of green chile enchiladas and carne adovada tamales. Speeches, laughter and dancing into the night followed on what was a perfect evening for us and all our loved ones."
